Webb Worry

Simon Webb faces a battle to be fit for the commencement of winter nets. Webby has been busy working on a loft conversion since the close of the season and his back duly gave way towards the end of November. At this stage the injury is not thought to threaten a return to full fitness for the first league encounter at Great Horton on Saturday 28 April but vice-captain Webb's welfare will need closely monitoring leading up to the start of the season. The stability he provides at the top of the order will be crucial in laying the foundations for big totals next summer.
